Investment objective³

The Invesco FTSE RAFI Emerging Markets UCITS ETF aims to provide investors with investment results which, before expenses, correspond to the price and yield performance of the FTSE RAFI Emerging Markets Net Total Return Index (an index weighted using a composite of fundamental factors) in US dollar terms by holding, as far as practicable, all of the Index's constituents in their respective weighting. The portfolio follows the index's annual review (in March each year). Please note that, prior to 29 May 2018, the name of this product was PowerShares FTSE RAFI Emerging Markets UCITS ETF.

Benchmark index description

The FTSE Research Affiliates Fundamental Index Series[®] weights index constituents using specific fundamental factors, rather than market capitalisation. Therefore, at review, constituent weights are not based on price valuations established by the market. The review of the FTSE RAFI Index Series and the calculation of the fundamental weighting of a company are carried out using the following factors as found in a company's annual returns: Sales (averaged over the prior five years), Cash Flow (averaged over the prior five years), Book Value (at the review date), and Dividends (total dividend distributions averaged over the last five years).

Performance of USD 10,000 since 31 January 2010

Past performance is not a guide to future returns. Source: Invesco, Bloomberg L.P. ETF performance shown is calculated with reference to the Net Asset Value, inclusive of net reinvested income and net of ongoing charges and portfolio transaction costs, in USD. The figures do not reflect the actual share price, the impact of the bid/offer spread or broker commissions.

ETF NAV performance differs from that of the index due to the ongoing charges and portfolio transaction costs and due to the fact that the ETF does not necessarily always hold all the securities in the index in their respective weighting.

Risk warnings

The value of investments and any income will fluctuate (this may partly be the result of exchange rate fluctuations) and investors may not get back the full amount invested.

As this is an emerging markets ETF, investors should be prepared to accept a higher degree of risk than for an ETF with a broader investment mandate, as difficulties in dealing, settlement and custody could arise.

When making an investment in an ETF you are buying shares in a company that is listed on a stock exchange.

It is expected that the shares of the ETF will trade closely to its Net Asset Value (NAV), and because of the exchange-traded fund structure, that a significant discount or premium to the NAV will not be sustained over the long term. However, supply of, and demand for, the shares on the relevant exchange together with any disruptions to creations and redemptions of units in the underlying fund may result in share prices that differ significantly from the NAV and there can be no certainty that there will be liquidity in the shares on any exchange. Only Authorised Participants, as defined in the Prospectus of the ETF, can request the Manager to create and redeem units in the underlying fund.

Important information

² The ETF will, as far as practicable, hold all the securities in the index in their respective weightings.

³ With effect from 1 February 2010, the investment policy and objectives of the Invesco Dynamic Europe Fund were amended by the substitution of the FTSE RAFI Emerging Markets Index in place of the existing benchmark. On the same day, the fund was renamed the Invesco FTSE RAFI Emerging Markets Fund. With effect from 1 February 2010, the base currency changed from Euros to US Dollars.

⁴ The Historic Yield reflects the distributions declared over the past twelve months as a percentage of the NAV at the beginning of the next period. Investors may be subject to tax on their distributions.

Using the RAFI index methodology, a stock's weight is derived from the composite of its 5 year average book value, cash flow, sales and dividends and that weighting determines the percentage of the index that will be invested in that stock. Each of the four metrics are obtained from the published accounts of the companies and the weighting is calculated in the same manner each time.
